Welcome to The VALE Forum

This December 2026, The VALE is launching a completely new experience. The VALE Forum combines an intimate peer-to-peer learning journey with a one-day public Symposium, creating a unique space where experienced youth leaders can exchange ideas, challenge perspectives, and grow together.

Across five inspiring days, participants will explore what value-driven leadership looks like in a hybrid world, where collaboration happens across screens, borders, cultures, and time zones.

Rather than following a traditional training model, the Forum is built around co-creation, meaningful conversations, and shared experiences that continue long after the event ends.

LEADING WITH PURPOSE ACROSS SCREENS & BORDERS

CONNECTING PEOPLE & PURPOSE

Today's leadership looks different than it did just a few years ago. Teams collaborate across screens, communities span countries, and meaningful connections are built both online and offline. Navigating this reality requires more than technical skills, it calls for authentic, value-driven leadership.

The VALE Forum 2026 is designed as a collaborative learning experience where experienced youth workers, NGO professionals, and civil society leaders come together to exchange ideas, challenge perspectives, and learn from one another. Rather than following a traditional training format, the Forum creates a space for participants to co-create knowledge and explore the opportunities and challenges of leading in hybrid environments.

Throughout immersive days, participants will engage in honest conversations, practical workshops, and shared reflections that strengthen both their leadership practice and their international network.

The Forum Journey

Five days to connect, learn and co-create with 50 alumni and youth leaders from across Europe, culminating in a public Symposium in the city of Hamburg.
